Title: Press On: Trading Lesser Stories for the One Worth Your Life

Text: Philippians 3:7–14

BIG IDEA: True significance happens when you trade every lesser story for the one calling worth your entire life: knowing Christ and becoming who He made you to be.

I. Trade Your Gains for Greater Worth (Phil. 3:7–9)

Paul reframes what is truly worth his life.

1. Good things become dangerous things when they become ultimate things.
 2. Paul reclassifies his former “gains” as loss compared to knowing Christ.
 3. Our identity is now expressed as being found in Him, not in performance.

II. Trade Knowing About Jesus for Knowing Jesus (Phil. 3:10–11)

1. Paul’s ambition is relational: “that I may know Him.”
2. He seeks:
 - o the power of His resurrection
 - o the fellowship of His sufferings
 - o to be conformed to His death
3. People who know why they live rarely quit; people who know who they belong to rarely crumble.

III. Trade Your Past for Your Purpose (Phil. 3:12–14)

1. We grow from acceptance, not toward it.
 2. Two movements define forward progress:
 - o Forgetting what lies behind
 - o Straining toward what lies ahead
 3. Your past explains you; it does not define you.
