

Message 1 / Acts 8:1-8,12

A concern for the cities in which we live is a biblical concern.

City: We seek to be a source of joy to our neighbors, and to our community and civic leaders. We seek to contribute to the well-being of the cities in which we live. We invest time, energy and resources to practically meet the needs of the last and the least among us.

Life Pointe Church Core Values

Interview Notes

Brenda McAfterty, Homelessness Liaison (NTPS); Deanna East and Linda Torres, McKinney-Vento Student Navigators (NTPS)

The Historical moment

Acts 1:8; 8:1-8, 12

Whatever happens, preach the word !

Philip preached the good news of the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus (Acts 8:5, 12)

Philip met deep, practical, human needs of the residents of that city, by the power of the Holy Spirit.

There was great joy in that city.

The demon-possessed were delivered

The lame and paralyzed were healed.

The Samaritans believed the good news

Those who believed were baptized, both men and women.

“Joy in the City” is a description of what results when the people of God are faithful to proclaim the gospel, the good news of the kingdom of God, which has arrived in the person of Jesus Christ the Son of God, by the power of the Spirit of God, and to meet the deep needs of others created in the image of God.

The community of Christ-followers in the city is called to be both proclaimers and practitioners of good news.

Remember to pray for and share Christ with your

